India's first UPI ATM launched

India's first UPI ATM has been launched in Mumbai in association with National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI).

With its help, now you can withdraw cash through UPI without debit or ATM card.

Japanese company Hitachi Payment Services has launched a white level UPI-ATM in collaboration with National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI).

This UPI ATM facility is currently launched only on White Label ATMs (WLAs).

White label ATMs are those ATMs which are operated by non-banking institutions.

With the help of this UPI ATM facility, users can withdraw cash from multiple accounts. Currently this facility is being operated by non-banking companies.
