increases its fiscal deficit. This is burden on government, because Fiscal deficit was a standard of 3% of its GDP, should not be greater than it. But in previous year went upto 6.8% because of these subsidies & government expenditures.

Solution - Public does not accept new things or technology quickly. They did not want to change their traditional practices for example in case of Agriculture, LPG cylinders. When government provide subsidy public do adopt & try flexible in coercive practices.

This happens in case of poor or vulnerable peoples. The adoption led to new level in society & there is need its development that government has one way to change its problem to solution by increasing taxes for financially well people or by decreasing subsidy to those who are able to afford it. Because India has large section of coercive people, thus need such subsidies.
